

Journal for School-Based Counseling Policy and Evaluation (JSCPE)

Spring 2019, Volume 1, Issue 2

Contents

Editorial

- 1 A Personalist Orientation to School-based Counseling Policy Research
Christopher A. Sink & Robert T. Dice

International Perspectives

- 8 Paving the Way for Counselling? The Link between Maltese PSD Model and Counselling
Ruth Falzon, Clarisse Frendo, & Maud Muscat
- 27 The Challenges and Future Directions of School Based Counselling in Nigeria
Agatha Ojeme

USA Perspectives

- 34 Activities and Role of School-Based Counselors in the US: A National Survey of American Counseling Association Members
Kui Yuan Fan, John C. Carey, Ian Martin, & Lijuan He

ABOUT THE JOURNAL (JSCPE)

In the fall 2017, International Society for Policy Research and Evaluation in School-Based Counseling (ISPRES) launched an international scholarly journal for practicing counselors, counselors in training, and academics aligned with school-based counseling across the globe. The aim is to initiate a serious international conversation about the need for innovative and wide-ranging school-based counseling policymaking that is founded on scientific evidence and rigorous evaluations. Articles are published twice a year online at <https://scholarworks.wm.edu/jscpe/>

The journal's principal goals are to disseminate (1) high quality school-based counseling research related to policy and evaluation, (2) innovations in school-based counseling policy and evaluation, (3) evidence-based conceptual or theoretical approaches to school-based counseling research and evaluation methods related policy studies, and (4) accountability methods in school-based counseling policy and evaluation.

Types of Manuscripts: Potential contributors (i.e., counselor educators, professional counselors, and graduate students) are invited to focus their manuscript on one of these four broad goal areas above. The journal welcomes contributions that are empirical studies, conceptual or forum pieces, philosophical papers, or manuscripts describing innovative and evidence-based practices. Given the journal is international in focus and distribution, contributions are welcomed from authors who represent school-based counseling in their particular countries or regions. Additional topics are acceptable, particularly if they are relate to school-based counseling, policy, and evaluation. Note: Preferential consideration will be given to manuscripts with an international perspective.

Submission: Authors should submit their manuscript (3,000 to 15,000 words) in English with an abstract in the authors' native language and a translated version in English (no more than 150 words). The formatting and style of the manuscript must correspond closely with the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.). Manuscripts are accepted throughout the year.

Review Process: The editorial board and expert ad hoc reviewers blindly review all manuscripts.

Until October 2019, direct manuscript inquires and submissions to:

Dr. Christopher Sink, JSCPE Editor
Old Dominion University
Darden College of Education
Department of Counseling and Human Services
csink@odu.edu (email)

Editorial Staff and Board Members

Christopher Sink, Ph.D., Editor, Old Dominion University
Patrick R. Mullen, Ph.D, Associate Editor, Editor Elect (Oct 2019), College of William and Mary email: prmullen@wm.edu
Jennifer Brodar, Ph.D., Assistant Editor (APA editing), John Hopkins University
Rawn A. Boulden, Jr., M.Ed., HS-BCP, Assistant to the Editor, Old Dominion University
University Nesselyn Dearce, Assistant to the Editor, Old Dominion University

Editorial Board Members and Manuscript Reviewers

For current list, see journal
website: <https://scholarworks.wm.edu/jscpe/editorialboard.html>

JSCPE is the scholarly journal of the International Society for Policy Research and Evaluation in School-Based Counseling (ISPRES C)

About International Society for Policy Research and Evaluation in School-Based Counseling (ISPRES C)

ISPRES C is a society of university-based researchers, counselor educators, school-based counseling administrators, school leaders, graduate students, educational policy-makers and educational policy advocates. The purpose of ISPRES C is to promote the development, wellbeing and rights of children and youth to a high-quality education, worldwide, through the assurance of their access and to high quality school-based counseling services. ISPRES C is a democratic organization that operates by the consensus of its members and is committed to advancing the human rights of all children regardless of race, sexual orientation, class, nationality, ethnicity, age, disability, or spiritual/religious orientation.

For information and interest, please contact: Dr. John Carey, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, USA, Chair, jcarey@educ.umass.edu or Dr. Vivian Lee, Johns Hopkins University, USA, Chair Elect, vylee812@gmail.com. Society link: <https://qshimuno.wixsite.com/ispresc>